

Cantieri di Sarnico

The Cantieri di Sarnico shipyard is based in the northern Italian town of Sarnico. With roots dating back more than a thousand years in the region, the Foresti family works diligently to maintain the high standards set by their forefathers.

For many years Cantieri di Sarnico has provided the European yachting community with luxury express cruisers. It is now bringing its strong reputation and special class of yachts from the Mediterranean to the shores of America.

The family's manufacturing philosophy is the core of its success. Teams of proud craftsmen demonstrate their professionalism and ability by creating a work of art with each yacht. Cantieri di Sarnico uses only the finest wood, leather, and steel. This creates high performance with comfort, a characteristic inherent since the outset of the shipyard's early days, due to the special "V" variable hull.

Cantieri di Sarnico is expanding into the United States through its subsidiary Sarnico USA, based in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Now Americans can see what thousands of years of Italian yacht craftsmanship looks like. Remember, Cantieri di Sarnico will never abandon its age-old philosophy of "quality reigns supreme over quantity."
